FOREWORD

Long ago, the Pottowatomies
Kneeling low in birch canoes
Skimmed across the sparkling waters,
Hunted on the sandy dunelands
With bows and arrows as their weapons.
And against the blue horizon
Tepees etched a ragged skyline
By the waters of Lake Michigan.
Then clear-visioned workmen
Built a city on this duneland.
And now, in the evening shadows
Tongues of flame from open hearth fires
Burn against the eastern skyline.
And silhouetted against them
Stand the smokestacks of the steel mills
Somber against a glowing background.
Around these growing steel mills
Other industries have gathered
As with the progress of the century
Marches our city—East Chicago.

THEME

With the years, as our industries
Spread outward over the dunelands
These same workmen, men of vision,
Built schoolhomes for their children.
And with the growth of many factories,
Foundries, refineries, and the steel mills
Came children in greater numbers
To the shelter of the schoolrooms.
These expanding industries
Have aided our city, East Chicago,
To give efficient training
To the children in their school days.
We, the Senior workmen,
From one of the younger schoolhomes
Have chosen the Industries of our city
For the theme of our yearbook
To honor these industries
And the men who strive and labor,
As a tribute to the gigantic power
Of our Industrial City, East Chicago.

DEDICATION

To all the industries of East Chicago
To those men whose skilled leadership
Has made their progress possible,
To those men who work within their walls,
We, the Senior Class of 1932,
Dedicate this Round-Up.

IN foundries where castings are made

THE FOUNDRY

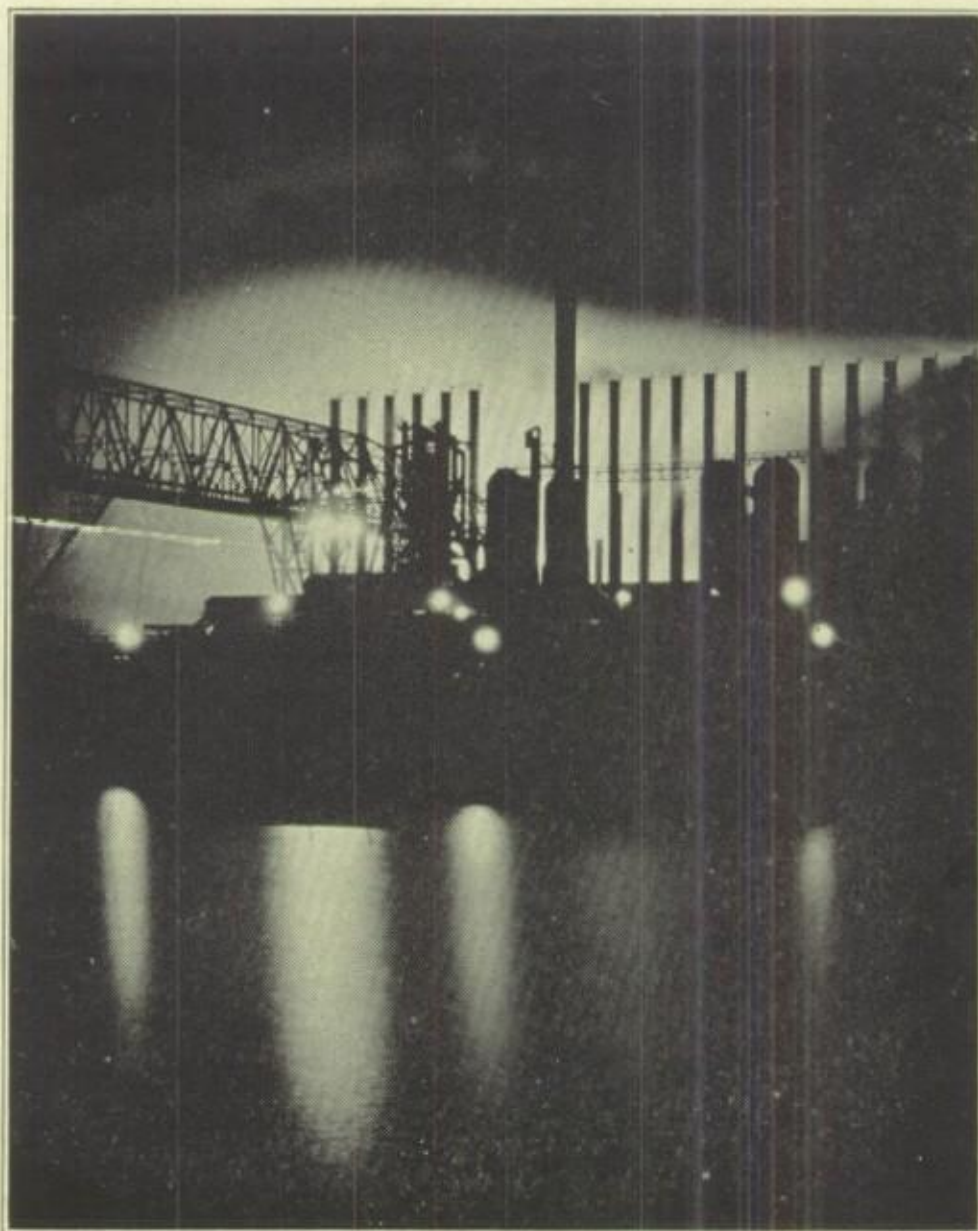

SCENES

When a heat is tapped in a steel mill!

Sunset! Sparkling waters on the lagoon

Night! A blast furnace glows into the darkness.

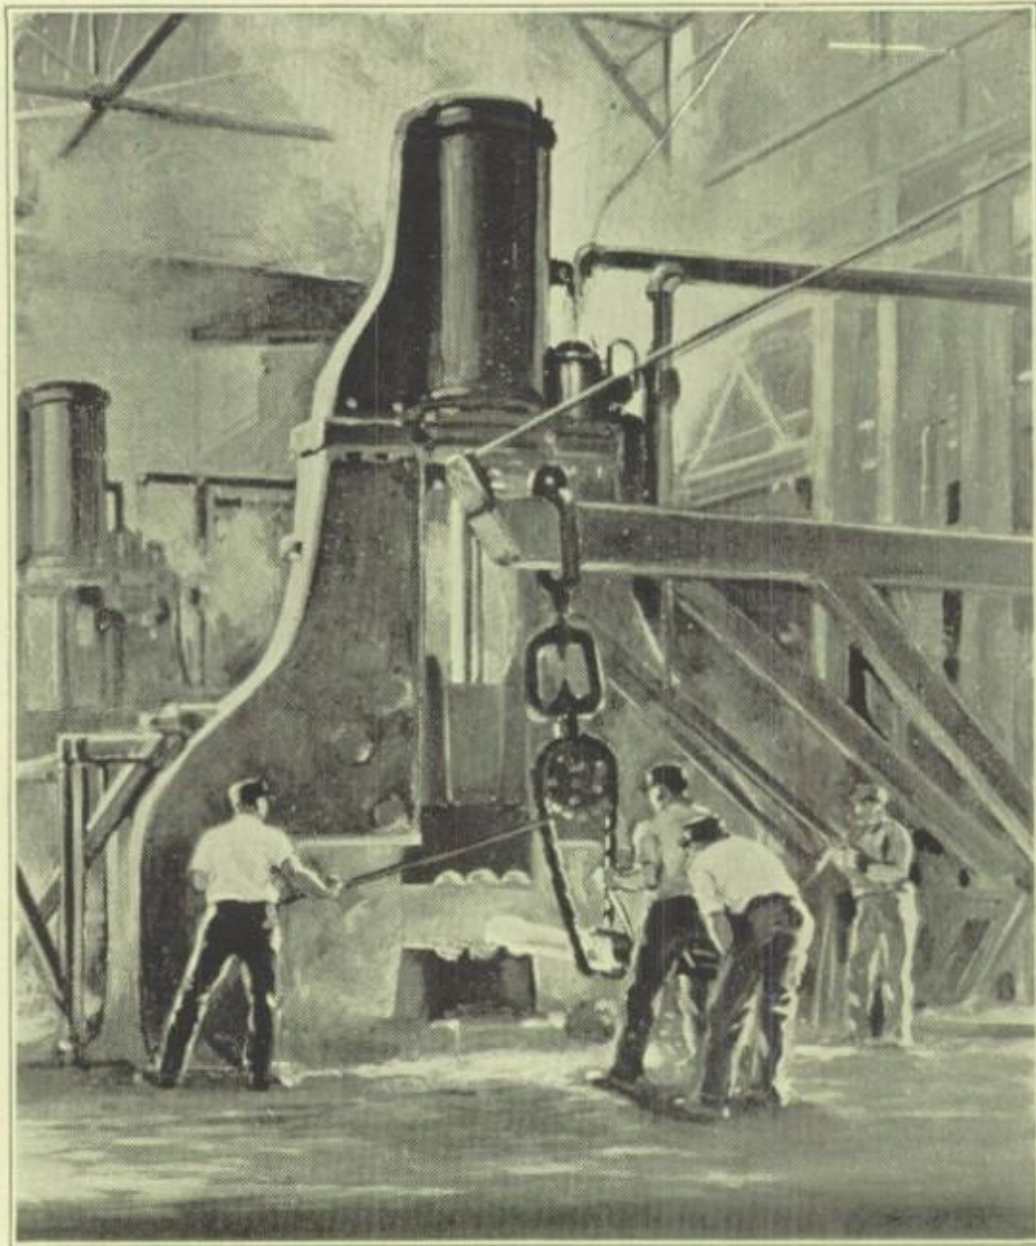

Sunlight gleaming over the fountain.

Unloading at an Indiana Harbor Dock.

Long fingered shadows fall from stately poplars.

Where railway axles are forged.

Cases of friendly books stretch across the walls.

THE ROUND-UP

IN THE WORKSHOPS

Art Department

Dyeing materials to make batik scarves, making charcoal drawings from life, carving figures from soap, designing posters for school events, painting attractive scenery for school plays, moulding figures in clay and plasticine!

Attractive drawings made in art classes which were always on display, gave evidence of the creative work carried on in this department. Here students were able to express their love of beauty and to develop and apply the art talent which they possess.

This year, advanced art classes were organized. Many students who had shown no interest in Art entered these classes and revealed unusual talent.

The Art Department has served the school in many ways throughout the year. It made posters for all events and decorated the school for the annual frolic.

Commercial Department

Rhythmic clicking of typewriter keys—the scratching of pens—keeping books with immaculate precision—transcribing shorthand notes! In the Commercial Department, students prepare themselves for positions in the business world.

In typing classes students work on a budget system. Speed and accuracy are stressed. At the end of two years, students are required to type fifty words a minute.

Shorthand students must complete four semesters of work. Speed in transcribing notes on typewriter is increased with each semester.

In bookkeeping classes, students actually keep books and follow the most advanced business practices.

Commercial Law, Business English and Business Science are offered to students in this department in order to enlarge their understanding of business practices.

English Department

Writing themes, working on grammar drills, debating some question of national importance, making public speeches, running down news stories! Varied and large is the field of this department.

Students in the English department realize that it is imperative to know how to speak our language correctly, to express themselves efficiently and to write grammatically correct English. Courses in this department are planned to enable students to use our language proficiently.

This year, greater interest was shown in declamatory and oratorical contests. Interpretive reading was the outstanding feature of public speaking classes.

Creative writing was stressed in English classes. Unusual talent was revealed and fine poems and themes were written. Drama classes wrote one-act plays.

ROOSEVELT

IN THE WORKSHOPS

Foreign Language Department

Translating chapters in the History of Caesar's conquests, enjoying the beauty of Vergil's verse, studying French stories, reading French plays, learning to appreciate the literature and language of Germany! Students speak and write foreign languages in these classes.

This department gives students an opportunity to learn a language other than English. At the same time it creates a feeling of world fellowship through acquainting students with the customs and habits of foreign peoples and introducing them to classic literature of other lands.

Much interest was shown in Latin, French and German, languages offered in our curriculum. The Latin department includes all courses from beginning Latin to Vergil. The two-year course in French trains the students to read and speak French efficiently. This is the second year in which German has been offered.

Home Economics Department

Girls at sewing machines industriously stitching seams—girls energetically washing windows! Thus the Home Economics department prepares Roosevelt co-eds for future careers as home-makers by giving practical training in school.

Sewing classes complete two semesters of work. Girls learn to make new clothing, make over old clothing, and distinguish the various kinds of textiles.

In the cooking classes, the girls prepare meals and learn the value of well-balanced food. This year, a dinner contest was held.

Many interesting projects were carried out by the girls in the home-making classes. The girls conducted a lunch contest for well-balanced trays, a table-setting exhibit and a study of plumbing, heating, lighting and ventilating conditions in East Chicago. Guest speakers addressed the girls at various times.

Health Department

Peering through the microscope searching for unknown wonders—striving to improve posture—trying in every way to promote health consciousness. Thus improvement in physique is accomplished through the Health Department.

Classwork was vivified and made realistic by dramatizing units of study and giving health skits. Posters were made to illustrate the health essentials discussed in recitation hours.

The Health course includes much laboratory work. Here the students dissect frogs and other animals to learn the structure of the body and to understand the circulatory and digestive systems.

Through this course, the students obtain a knowledge of the causes, results and prevention of disease, and learn how to acquire and maintain health.

THE ROUND-UP IN THE WORKSHOPS

Industrial Department

Youthful mechanics repairing cars, young draftsmen bending over blueprints, printers locking up the weekly Rough Writer, machinists making punch hammers, cabinet makers turning legs for radio stands, apprentices returning to school to broaden their knowledge of work!

Many cars were brought into the Auto Shop. Here students applied their knowledge and gained experience by making necessary repairs.

Sheet metal drafting, free hand sketching, and pattern making are studied in Drafting classes.

Castings from patterns made in Drafting classes are made in the Machine Shop. Balpeen hammers, screw drivers, tap wrenches, and expansion mandrels are produced in this department.

Besides publishing the Rough Writer, the Print Shop makes forms for the school and main office, and posters and programs for school events.

Woodshop students learn pattern and cabinet making. Here, tilt top tables, radio benches and telephone stands are manufactured.

Mathematics Department

Students in Math classes bending diligently over their work spurred on by the spirit of Steve Adamec, winner of last year's county Math contest—students swinging compasses around, forming perfect circles—drawing triangles and parallelograms on white paper.

Math students make line grafts, study trigonometric ratios, scale drawings and measurement by means of similar polygons, and prove geometric propositions.

During the first semester, classes in Solid Geometry and in College Algebra were offered to advanced students. Trigonometry was taught in the latter half of the year.

In Vocational Math, students studied the fundamental operations of integers and fractions.

Parts of algebra, geometry, graphs and trigonometry which would be useful to artisans were introduced with the regular work.

Music Department

Bands playing stirring marches—young voices singing joyously—audiences applauding after a moment of silent tribute! The Music department gives the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of music.

Under Miss Clark's supervision the vocal department enrolled large numbers of Junior and Senior High School students. These singers appeared at assembly gatherings and civil affairs and took part in the Lake County Festival and in the Charity Concert.

The Boys' and Girls' Bands, which Mr. Boroughs directed, played at football games, basketball games and assemblies. The Concert Orchestra gave many delightful programs.

ROOSEVELT

IN THE WORKSHOPS

Physical Education Department

Strong, lithe bodies springing into action at the sound of a whistle, jumping for a ball at the tip-off—again, speeding down the cinder covered track, fighting for a pig-skin—the school nurse crowning the Health queen, students tumbling, drilling and dancing for the annual Physical Education exhibit!

Physical Education is an important part of the life of every High School student. It aims to develop a sound mind in a strong body through physical activity in games, mental alertness, quick thinking, cooperation and to encourage the spirit of play.

In the Girls' Physical Education classes, tumbling, basketball, baseball, deck tennis, hockey, and swimming attracted many students.

Basketball, football, wrestling, tennis, cross country and track proved the most popular sports for boys.

Science Department

Boys and girls working diligently in Science labs, proving some scientific theory, dissecting specimens brought to class, rambling through the park to study plants, giving reports on research subjects. These new fields of interest are opened to students who enroll in the Science department.

The Freshmen enroll in General Science classes where they receive a background for their work in Chemistry and Physics.

Chemistry, which was recently introduced in our school, enrolled many students this year, who enjoyed finding for themselves what miracles chemical changes can perform in matter.

Physics classes finish the course with a profound knowledge of the why and how of nature's phenomena.

Scientific minded students, who wish to learn more about the structure of the human body, enroll in Physiology and Biology classes.

Social Science Department

Tracing history's march on maps—reading about the world in current magazines—studying ancient, medieval and modern civilization—discussing the responsibilities of young Americans who are future citizens. Thus, students in Social Science learn more about the world in which they live.

The students learn to appreciate the history of the past and to understand the significance of present day events. With each year, Social Science students become more international minded.

In addition to regular class work, students completed many projects. Scrapbooks portraying the lives of historical characters were made. Campus clean-up campaigns were organized and flowers were placed in the class rooms. A House of Representatives and a Municipal Court were organized in Civics classes.

ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL WORKSHOPS' INVENTORY
1931-1932

With the close of the year, we, like all efficient workmen in an industrial enterprise, pause to take an inventory. Thus, we sum up our assets, check up our defects, and, in general, analyze our industrial machinery.

At the beginning of the year, two hundred new laborers were added. The greatest increase was in the Senior Shop. Many former students returned to school in order to take advantage of the educational opportunities offered. Although the labor gang increased, from eleven hundred thirty-six to thirteen hundred forty-one, the number of bosses remained the same. Consequently, the scope of their efforts and responsibilities was enlarged.

Productive efficiency in the workshop was greatly improved this year. Acting on the suggestion of the Student Council, the Scholarship Committee with the approval of the faculty issued scholarship letters to those workmen whose records showed a high quality of production. One hundred and seven letters were awarded during assembly program.

The school not only endeavored to install a knowledge of liberal arts within its workers but it also aimed to develop a love of art and the finer things in life. And so, this year, the School Beautification Committee purchased a number of artistic and appropriately framed pictures which were hung in the work shops.

To relieve the monotony of the work day, the student laborers took advantage of the many extra-curricular activities. Their active participation in these activities resulted in an enlarged club program, high standard publications, heavy athletic schedules, and particularly successful basketball and wrestling seasons. Intramural activities increased during the year and dramatic and speech presentations claimed the interest of many workers. In the music shops, the workers did away with the competitive spirit in the interscholastic music department functions and demonstrated what could be accomplished by cooperative participation. This was exemplified by a large delegation in the National High School Chorus, and in the growth of the Festival Activities in Lake County.

In order to further the recreational and social opportunities of the laborers, Roosevelt, like all good workshops, featured many entertainments throughout the year. During the Fall, the faculty sponsored a Frolic to raise a fund to provide professional talent for four assemblies. The annual Senior Class Play, "The King Rides By," was presented. The Parent Teachers' Association sponsored its first vaudeville show and the Orchestra achieved success with its First Annual Concert. During the latter half of the year, the Senior Class, seeking means to finance the Annual, gave their First Annual Fiesta, The Masquenon Club offered "The Arrival of Kitty," an amusing three act comedy farce, and the Music Department gave its annual concert. Instead of the customary operetta, the All School Show was presented in the latter part of May.

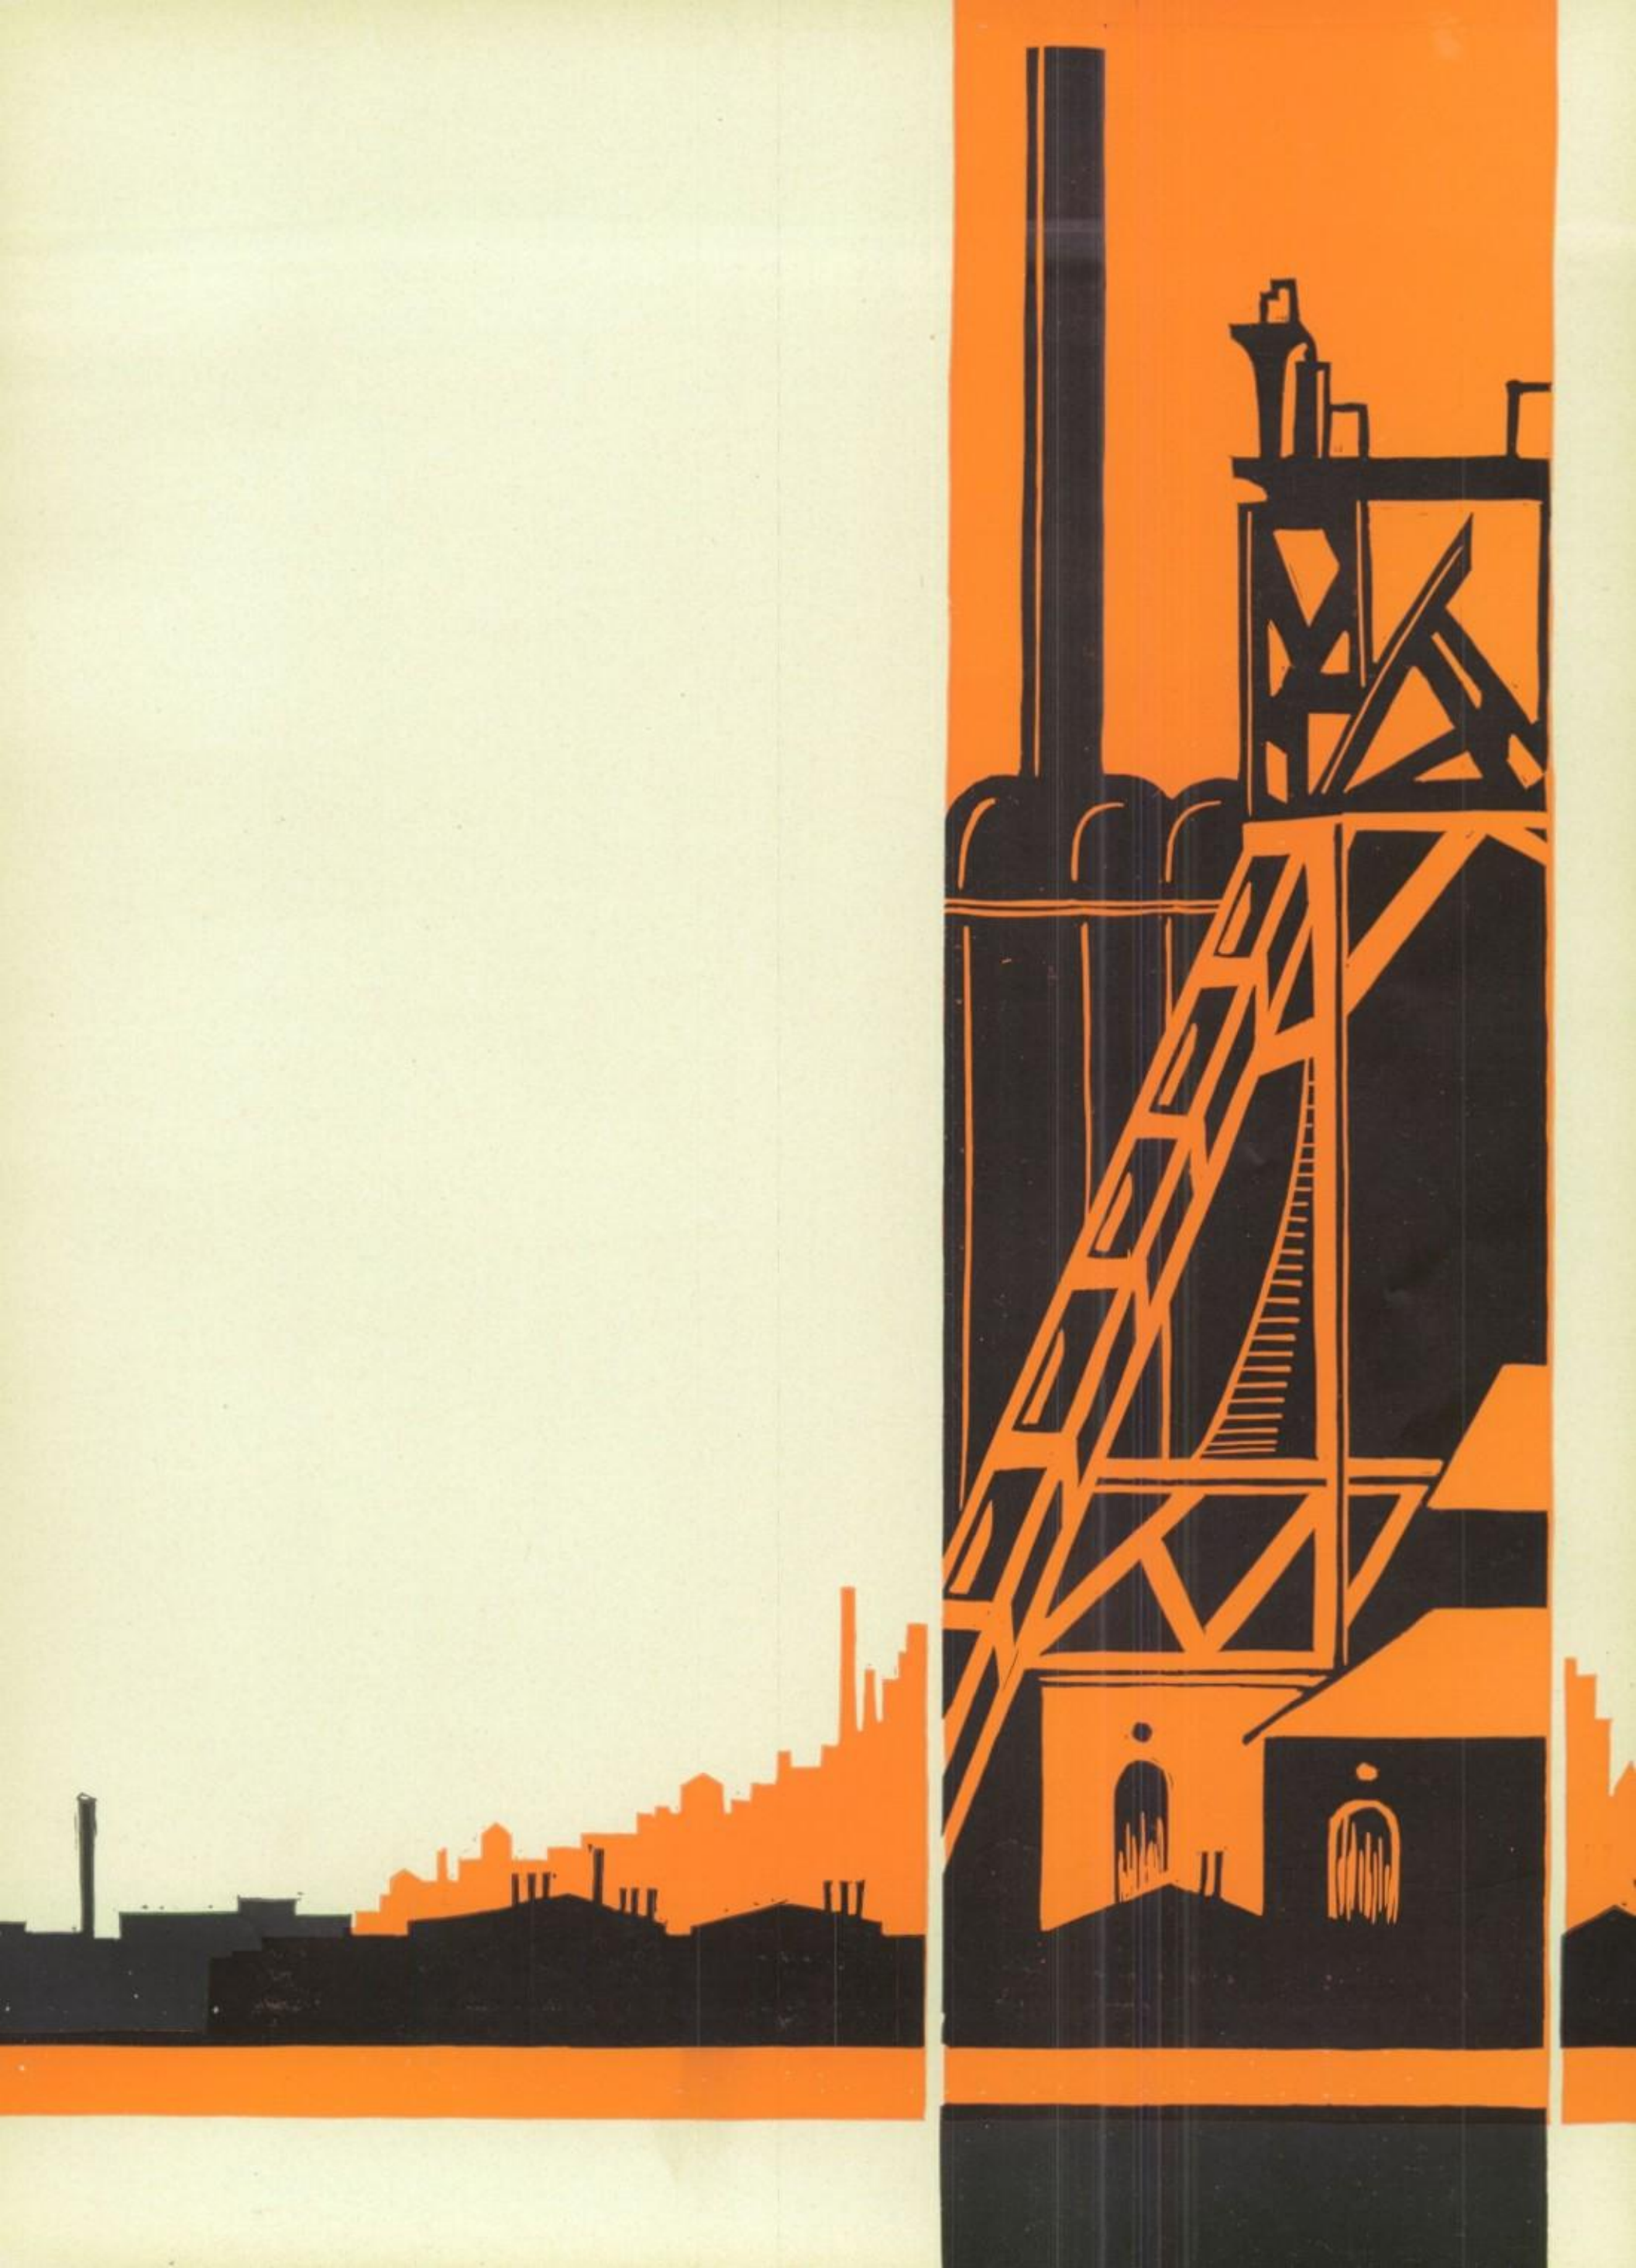

The Industrial activities of Roosevelt did not cease with the 3:30 whistle. Many laborers worked during the night shift. The evening school classes increased in both size and the public at no cost proved to be popular. The Community Center activities of the school also showed an increase over that of last year.

BLOOMING MILLS where blocks of steel
Rolled from heated ingots
Become finished rails or structural shapes
For building ships, bridges and skyscrapers,
Our classes, too, are blooming mills
Where ideas and ideals are rolled into shape.

SENIOR MANAGERS

With a thought toward the polishing machine and best wishes for the coming year, the superintendent of the refinery appointed three foremen, Mrs. Clark, Miss Swatts, and Mr. Maury to manage the Senior workshop.

These three division foremen have offered suggestions, fostered personal initiative in the students and have aided them in smoothing out and working over crude ideas. As the bosses in charge of room two-thirty-seven they have urged the Seniors to acquire a thrift habit, and to support the Jr. Red Cross, and the Rough Writer.

Mrs. Clark, the first foreman, has led the 12A1 section actively and energetically in all projects and has given hints and suggestions for the improvement of the class. She has never let her section go astray or get into any serious difficulties, but she has allowed the students to work out their own problems as a preparation for the future. Mrs. Clark is not only a polisher of the Senior class, but she prepares underclassmen for the final polish in German, Latin and French. Although relieved of the work this year, Mrs. Clark has been sponsor of the Student Council. She is in charge of the National Honor Society, a scholastic organization, and she sponsors the German and Stamp clubs.

As a leader of dramatics, Miss Swatts, the second foreman, deserves much commendation. The first Junior play which was presented by the class of '32," was engineered and produced under Miss Swatts' direction and the annual Senior play enjoyed the same enthusiastic guidance. In line with the production of class plays, Miss Swatts sponsored the play, "The Arrival of Kitty" and aided Miss Cotter in the directing of this Masquenon Club performance. This foreman also undertook an interesting, enlightening piece of work by conducting an inter-class oratorical and declamatory contest this year. The winners in each class competed and the final winners spoke in a contest with Washington.

The third foreman, Mr. Maury, came to Roosevelt from Champaign, Illinois in September, 1929 to work in the Metal Shop of the Industrial Department. This year he was chosen as faculty business manager of the Round-Up. He has also managed in a most efficient manner the business of other Senior projects, the outstanding of which was the Senior Fiesta. He handled the money and business besides offering the helpful suggestions as a section foreman. Mr. Maury ably directed the management of the scenery for both the Senior and Masquenon plays. Mr. Maury is best known and most appreciated by his 12 A3 section of industrial boys whom he has sponsored for three years.

WHERE non-ferrous metals are refined
After bismuth, antimony and silver have been removed Pure lead is poured into molds,
And made into hardened bars.
Through the organizations of our school
Our best qualities are brought out and refined.

ORGANIZATIONS IN THE PLANTS

Industrial organizations have found that planned recreation enables their workers to function more efficiently. Many factories have built attractive club rooms where trained leaders organize amusement for their workmen.

Early in the history of Roosevelt, the administration organized clubs, both in the Junior and Senior High Schools, to train students in the usage of parliamentary law, to aid them to discover attractive opportunities for the use of leisure hours, and to provide a means through which students might meet socially.

Edita Club—Sponsor, Miss Owen

The Edita Club which was organized to promote appreciation of the three arts, decided to aid in social service because of the present economic conditions.

In addition to their annual Christmas party for sixty children, they have taken on other projects and have aided handicapped children.

To carry out the letter of their purpose, they have read several current short stories and plays at their meetings. To further appreciation of the three arts, students have written original skits and presented them before the club.

Senior Girl Reserves—Sponsor, Miss Reifel

The Senior Girl Reserves strive to "find and give their best." With the aid of Miss Reifel the girls completed many tasks, a few of which were their service projects for Thanksgiving and Christmas, a social project and their candle light service which was given in May for the Junior Girl Reserves and the new members in the Senior club.

Senior Hi-Y—Sponsor, Mr. Fox

The Hi-Y Club, organized for the purpose of creating, maintaining and extending high standards of Christian endeavor throughout the school.

Hi-Y boys have served the school in many ways this year. They managed and sponsored the annual bonfire during the football season, ushered at school events, delivered Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, stirred up enthusiasm for athletic games and gave a Father and Son Banquet.

In April, delegates from the Club attended the annual Hi-Y convention at Indianapolis.

R. O. A.—Sponsor, Miss Overpeck

The R. O. A. has accomplished its purpose of furthering athletics among girls by furnishing opportunities for them to participate in sports. Coach Overpeck has done much to keep up enthusiasm.

Masquenon Club—Sponsor, Miss Swatts

In April the Masquenon Club gave its first play, "The Arrival of Kitty." The proceeds were used to buy make-up, scenery and other equipment which was needed in the dramatic department. The Club also purchased the awards for winners in the Oratorical and Declamatory Contest.

Student Council—Sponsor, Mr. Murphy

The Student Council has done much to foster better student government. During the past year it established student government and also created a board of health. It placed posters throughout the building which have aided students to become more orderly and efficient, and it has kept close supervision over the hall monitors.

Printing Club—Sponsor, Mr. Brown

With the policy to improve the quality of work done in Roosevelt's printing department, to develop an appreciation of better work, and to cause the student to become better consumers of printing, the Printing Club has accomplished much and has published a monthly paper, "The Pica Post."

The Junior Red Cross Council has done much to help the needy and to train school children to serve others.

In making a summary of the work done by the Council during the year 1931, we find that ten Christmas baskets were sent to foreign lands, fourteen Christmas baskets were given to needy families here, twenty-seven garments were collected from sewing classes, and five Christmas presents were sent to veterans at Point Pierre Hospital in Maryland. This organization had a total collection of over $200.00.

German Club—Sponsor, Mrs. Clark

The German Club became more familiar with this language by playing German games and working German puzzles, and by singing and conversing in German.

National Honor Society—Sponsor, Mrs. Clark

The National Association of Secondary School Principals founded the National Honor Society in 1919. This organization aims "to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to strengthen a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character."

Present Members who were elected into the society last year are: Sidney Sitwell, Ruth Daum and Charlotte Fishman. The new members elected from the Senior class this year are: Eugene Cameron, Marguerite Faerber, Eileen Lamb, Gwendolyn Holtzapple, Otto Loehrke, Gunda Olson, Alex Plesniak, Lorraine Roe, Julia Stiglitz, Ellen Swanson and Charles Haight. The Junior Class members are Bernice Adley, Ruth Barr, William Freiburger, George Navarre, Celia Bielecky and Adolph Chrapla.

Industrial Club—Sponsor, Mr. Ferguson

The Industrial Club has done much to acquaint the boys with the various kinds of industries. Outside speakers talked to the club on the different types and kinds of industries.

Girls' Shop Club—Sponsor, Mr. Bunker

Much practical shop work has been done by the Girls' Shop Club which was organized a few years ago. Girls in this club have made book ends, door stops resembling cats and dogs, corner shelves and match boxes.

Drafting Club—Sponsor, Mr. Miller

The Drafting Club was instrumental in securing the interesting collection of drawings from foreign countries which were exhibited in our halls. They have also made a club magazine caricaturing their members.

Monogram Club—Sponsor, Mr. Austin

The Monogram Club has furthered sports and formed social contacts for the lettermen.

C. B. C. B.—Sponsor, Mr. Haynes

Members of the C. B. C. B. Club claim that they have done much to further "Christianity and craziness" among the boys. Although this club works quietly, it has accomplished many worth-while projects. It also sponsored one of the most popular after school dances.

A. G. S. A.—Sponsor, Mr. Poage

The A. G. S. A. or the Alpha Gamma Societas Artis, which was originally founded by an advanced art class has been working hard to improve the artistic talents of its members and to benefit the school in every way possible.

Pep Club—Sponsor, Mr. Apostle

Although the Pep Club was organized late this year, Mr. Apostle succeeded in stirring up enthusiasm which won the day.

The club met each Friday morning during advisory hour and held pep sessions for coming events. Special pep sessions for the entire school, were held before games.

THE ROUND-UP

Cashiers Club—Sponsor, Miss Murphy

The Thrift Cashiers have promoted thrift within the school. So that they might do better work, they obtained outside speakers to instruct and entertain them.

Commercial Club—Sponsor, Mr. Dennis

During the year, the Commercial Club sponsored a night party and an after school dance.

Aeroplane Club—Sponsor, Mr. Matthews

To be able to discuss aeroplanes more intelligently and to understand aeroplanes is the purpose of the Aeroplane Club.

This organization proved worthwhile in furnishing inspiration to the boys in the club.

Gypsy Club—Sponsor, Miss Specter

The members of the Gypsy Club have been having a marvelous time in their trip around the world. They have stopped at many interesting parts where they learned much of life and customs of many lands. Keep your palms hidden when a gypsy is in sight!

Citamard Club—Sponsor, Miss Fifield

Miss Fifield's Citamard Club and Miss Cotter's Junior Dramatic Club, both new dramatic organizations, were very active during the year. The Citamard Club presented "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" for a night assembly. These clubs also furnished entertainment for several of the P. T. A. meetings.

Junior Hi-Y Club—Sponsor, Mr. Fox

The Junior Hi-Y Club has ended another successful year. This year, ninety members answered the roll call, which makes it one of the largest clubs at Roosevelt. Mr. Fox and the members of the Senior Hi-Y assisted them in sponsoring a basketball tournament.

J. W. B.—Sponsor, Mr. Haynes

The J. W. B. Club was organized to further the social activities and to promote activities for and by boys.

Junior Girl Reserves—Sponsors, Madelyn Toben and Marion Jansson

The Junior Girl Reserves, following in the footsteps of the Senior Girl Reserves, completed a very successful year. The club enjoyed original programs and singing during the meeting hours.

Book Club—Sponsor, Miss Larson

The Book Club explored the mysteries of bookland. Books were read in club hour and book reviews were given by club members.

Nature Club—Sponsor, Miss Cohen

The newly organized Nature Club planted flowers and studied the various species of trees and flowers.

Junior Art Club—Sponsor, Mr. Poage

The Junior Art Club has gained experience in the varied fields of art.

Junior Debating Club—Sponsor, Mr. Anderson

The members of the Junior Debating Club promoted interest and gained experience in debating. They also sponsored a Leap Year dance.

Comedy Club—Sponsor, Miss Marshall

The Comedy Club, organized for the purpose of making social contacts for its members, gave a play entitled, "Leave It To Venus."

Tri-V Club—Sponsor, Miss Carlos

The Emily Post Club was reorganized as the Tri-V Club this year. Miss Carlos succeeded Mrs. Henry as sponsor.

Singing Club—Sponsor, Miss Clark

The Singing Club is a new organization with an unusually large enrollment. It has approximately one hundred and fifty members.

The 7B Club—Sponsor, Miss Williams

The programs of this club consisted of plays which were chiefly original.

THE ROUND-UP

BASKETBALL

Cooperation is a mainstay in sports as well as in all phases of industry, and the realization of this fact was brought forward by the laborers of Roosevelt in Basketball. Men showed smoothness of teamwork at all times throughout the season, winning fifteen games and losing only five.

The Roosevelt workmen opened the season by winning the first seven games. Included in their list of vanquished foes, were Emerson, Attica and Hammond.

Shares of Roosevelt stock were respectfully watched by our foes after the eminent quality of playing production exhibited during the contest between Greencastle, last year's runner-up for state honors, and our artisans. Greencastle's output of baskets was somewhat sabotaged by the union men of the Austin system, allowing our cooperative system to produce five more points than the Edmunson boys, leaving us on the long end of a 25-20 count.

This year's Basketball Team rated a step higher in the Conference standing of the Big Sixteen. The Rough Riders tied for fourth position last season with Horace Mann, Emerson and Hammond.

FOOTBALL

Another sport requiring clock-like mechanism and cooperation among team members is that manly sport, football. Roosevelt's squad of inexperienced gridders had a season of depression qualities, winning only two and tying two others of the eleven games of the season.

Our mole-skin wearers began the season like champions, tying the Alumni and defeating Valparaiso and Catholic Central by fair sized scores. This dumping of victories on the market did not last long because Crane Tech, followed by other schools, closed its port of entry to the goal line leaving our linemen and pig skin carriers bucking up against an impregnable wall.

Next season's squad promised to retaliate by raising the tariff on touchdowns and to do a little exporting themselves. The men seeking employment in Coach Austin's 1932 Touchdown Produce Company are of vigorous stature and immense speed.

The team experienced the lowest conference rating of its scholastic competitions, finding itself in seventh place at the end of the season.

TENNIS

The tennis team of 1931 also broke even in its matches, winning four and losing four matches. The team which took the courts for Roosevelt had two regulars back, Dal Lehmann and Jack Walsh.

Dal Lehmann, Jack Walsh, Stanley Dubis and John Kowalski composed the Rough Rider team.

ROOSEVELT

OTHER SPORTS

TRACK

The 1931 Track season at Roosevelt wound up with the team placing in four meets and winning three meets. Roosevelt has always had a strong team on the track, but a comparatively weak team in the field.

The team made a nice showing at the Conference meet, held on the Riders' field, earning the fourth position berth. Tom King won the mile jog. Harold Layer, Connie Mnich, Tom Morris, and Ed Benchik all placed in their events. The team also received fourth place in the Sectional meet at Gary.

The men, laboring under the Williams system, defeated Washington and Hammond for the second successive year.

The best men on the track who applied for positions in the dash and run department were Tom Morris, Connie Mnich, Stanley Kocal, Tom King and Ed Benchik. The stars in the field were Chris Pigago and Art Gee.

Tom Morris was captain of the team and faithfully filled the post.

WRESTLING

A wrestling team of undisputed quality was produced by Mr. Williams in his little workshop down in the basement of Roosevelt. This team went through this season of the depression with only one defeat. But this loss was easily shaded when the team won the Conference Championship and took third place in the State Meet.

The best match performed by our grapplers was against Tilden Tech. Tilden was champion of Cook County last season. Tilden had defeated Roosevelt 22-15 earlier in the season, but this was avenged at a later date to the tune of 26-15.

The Rough Riders won their first Big Sixteen Conference Championship when the catch as catch can men took the honors at South Bend. Tom McCarthy, Milton Miller, George Navarre and John Ginay won conference championships in their divisions. This is the second year in which Navarre has won a conference championship.

The Riders traveled down to the State meet at Bloomington, where they took third place. Tom McCarthy and Bob Frisbie won their matches and became state champs. Harold Layer, George Navarre, John Ginay and Milton Miller all placed at this meet.

The squad was composed of twenty-nine men. Out of this number, eighteen showed their wares for the good of the school and were commissioned with letters.

The laborers for this sport who attained major letters were Tom McCarthy, Milton Miller, George Navarre, Harold Layer, Bob Frisbie and John Ginay. To obtain a major letter in a minor sport, one must place in a state meet or in a conference meet.

Those who were awarded minor letters were: Peter Vuchinas, James Sefton, Stanley Mathias, Irving Sax, Andy Brexa, Matt Kasza, Alvin Miller, Walter Kocal, Walter Czewinski, Tony Pontillo, and Joseph Suchan. Billie Freiburger received a letter after acting as manager in a handy fashion.

THE ROUND-UP

CROSS COUNTRY

The Cross Country team which represented us in 1931 broke even by losing three and winning three meets. This was the second season that Roosevelt has been represented by a cross country team.

The team placed third in the Conference meet at South Bend.

James Sefton was the dominant runner of the team, winning several meets and continually beating the remaining Rough Riders over the finish line. James also was elected captain of the harriers.

Eddie Kumiegi was the second outstanding runner listed on the harrier roll.

The team downed Emerson and twice during the season left Washington on the short end of the score. Froebel carried away the honors in two meets between the teams and Horace Mann defeated us once. The team easily took the city championship by winning the first three places.

The thinly clads who received letters were: James Sefton, Eddie Kumiegi, Melvin Bell, John Kersnosky and Paul Haburay.

Jack Norris was manager and aided Coach Williams in many helpful ways.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

The Roosevelt Olympic Organization serves as a central organization for girls' athletics in Roosevelt. A council from the R. O. A. composed of the sportheads regulate the point system through which awards are won.

This year sweaters were awarded to five senior girls for their athletic ability and sportsmanship. Lorraine Roe, with 1400 points, Julia Stiglitz, 1300, Gunda Olson, 1300, Lottie Marciniak, 1300, and Ann Trtan, 1300, won these sweaters.

This fall, Coach Overpeck's girls started the athletic season with field hockey. In spite of bruised shins and scratched legs the girls trotted out on the athletic field two evenings a week and worked heartily for their points.

Basketball, one of the oldest and most popular sports at Roosevelt, attracted an unusually large number of girls this winter. Inter-class games which created great enthusiasm, were played throughout the season. This sport wound up with an inter-school tournament between Roosevelt and Washington.

Once a week, girls interested in swimming went over to Washington High School where they practised their strokes and perfected their dives in the swimming pool.

With spring came track, tennis and baseball. Each of these sports enjoyed a large following of girls.

Eliminations for the annual track meet, held June 8th, were made the week before the big event. Many girls tried out for positions in the meet.

Tennis, a minor sport, was played both in fall and spring. Many girls entered the tennis tournament held in the spring.

Roosevelt girls' gym classes presented a novel drill in the Physical Education Exhibit held at Washington Field on June 3rd.

THE HEALTHIEST WORKMEN

The crowning of Genevieve Fahey, a member of the Junior class, as Roosevelt's Health Queen on May 19, culminated the Roosevelt girls Health Contest for the year 1931-1932.

Margaret Wells was awarded second place and Catherine Smith, third, in this same contest. Vivian Della Chiesa, Elizabeth Comandella, Mary Grismer and Margaret Wilson, all received blue ribbons.

In the Junior High School, the honors for Health Princess were won by Joan Robinson. Evangeline Geer, Betty Ruth Lewis, Betty Smyers and Bertha Tompkins were blue ribbon girls.

Much time and deliberation were spent in choosing the queen and princess and their courts. Weight eliminated the majority of girls in the opening stages of the contest. Those who survived were subjected to examinations by Miss F. Overpeck, Mrs. J. DeJong, R.N., Dr. H. A. Vore, and Dr. F. H. Mervis. Posture, complexion, teeth, hair, nails and general physical fitness were taken into consideration. This year, special emphasis was placed on sportsmanship.

This contest was conducted by Miss Overpeck who had as her assistants Mrs. DeJong, our school nurse, Dr. Vore, school physician, and Dr. Mervis. It has done much to raise the health standards of Roosevelt girls.

SEPTEMBER

8. Three cheers! Teachers with beaming faces welcome us back to our dear old Alma Mater! Are we glad! Oh, yeah?
9. Settling down to the old books! Which means, of course, homework! homework! homework!
17. Football season starts. Yea for the pigskin! We tie the most honorable Alumni 6-6.
18. Our first victory of the season over Valpo. Score 36-6.
19. Football team victorious over Catholic Central 25-6. Nine rahs for team!!
23. The dignified and most worthy seniors hold their election of officers. Dal Lehmann is president; Joe Justine, vice-president; Ruth Daum, secretary.
26. Our first defeat (sniffle, sniffle). Crane Tech wallops us by the score of 13-6.
27. Curses, vacation again! How we abhor them! Our beloved teachers went to Hammond for a day off. Heaven knows they needed it.
29. P. T. A. give a card party for the Welfare Fund. Mr. J. Lehmann is the general chairman.

OCTOBER

1. Do you remember the thrilling tales told by Charles E. Lofgren about his interesting and exciting experiences in the North Pole and the big Eskimo dog he brought back with him? How those seventh graders loved that dog; but who didn't!
3. Defeat number two. We lose to Hammond in a 7-0 thriller.
7. Dunes Art Studio receives contract for our Annual pictures.
8. We start taking Senior pictures. Senior gals all dressed up in their best. Senior boys don their best suits.
10. Lowell crushes our Riders by the score of 13-7. Boo-Hooo!

ROOSEVELT

THE TIME CLOCK

15. Our most honorable Faculty have their pictures taken. My, didn't they look "scrumptious"? And the camera still works!
17. Defeat, defeat, defeat! Horace Mann over-rides our team in an exciting 21-12 thriller.
23. Whoopee! Time to make merry, kids! The school Assembly committee sponsors the Annual Frolic. A darling live baby was given away free. What did Joseph Hartley do with it? I wonder!!
24. Another tie game! We journey to Elkhart and tie them 6-6.
30. Remember that thrilling 75-yard run made by Patsy Locascio in favor of Emerson?
31. Br-r-r! Spooks and witches glided through the familiar halls of our Alma Mater on this weird night. Seniors give their annual Halloween party. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Angers, and Mr. and Mrs. Holtzapple are chaperons.

NOVEMBER

5. Fifteen men on a dead man's chest, Yo-Ho and a bottle o' rum! Edita club initiates pledges in true pirate style. The pledges are Ellen Swanson, Jeannette Castle, Helen Matysoski, Florence Olson and Doris Bates.
6. The babies of our high school give their first freshman party. You should have seen them in their green freshie bonnets.
7. We lose to Whiting, 41-6.
11. Armistice Day! We stop work for two minutes and face East in honor of our soldiers dead.
13. With many tears and lamentations we take a defeat from our sister school, Washington, in the last game of the season. Ray Kmak, Wally Rospond, Don Hane, Dal Lehmann, Wade Wyatt, Joe Demichelli, Fred Layer and Nick Lemon, all Seniors, played their last game for our school.
14. Start taking class pictures. Dear me. All the classes we missed!
19. Jurien Hoekstra, famous baritone, entertains us with some very clever songs. The song, "Aint it a Shame to Kiss Your Girl on Sunday" won popular favor.
20. Winter must be on its way. The ice skating shelter is built in Tod Park.
21. Basketball season begins! We wallop Hammond in an overtime game. Score, 32-29. The Sophomore class give their first party.
24. Seniors receive their pictures. Glory be! Aren't some people popular?
- 26-29. Nine rahs for the toikey! Thanksgiving vacation.
28. We win again! Roosevelt 25, Greencastle 20.

THE DAYS THAT WILL NEVER COME AGAIN

Long after your school days are past you will keep and treasure this book. It will be a perennial reminder of the spring time of your life, but when you turn to the printed words and to pictures set down here they will beckon back the yesterdays, perhaps with a flood of memories you little dream of now. When life is new we little heed the present. It is only when the years wear on and time's magic mist softens the light of other days that we fully realize the happiness of these fleeting, golden minutes.

PRESIDENT HOOVER HONORS ROOSEVELT

President Hoover sent a telegram to our principle, Mr. Wells, requesting to speak before the students of the Roosevelt school, on February 43rd. He said that he had heard so much about our wonderful school and he would enjoy a visit here.

Mr. Wells called an assembly for all the school students to tell them about this wonderful honor. He told the students that they should all dress up in their best clothes. The girls should wear formals and the boys tuxes.

On the forty-third when Mr. Hoover came, the girls were all dressed up in their best bibs and tuckers and the boys came in their tuxes. The whole school came to the gala event.

Suddenly the gorgeous velvet curtains in the auditorium were drawn apart and the student body saw Mr. Wells and Mr. Hoover seated on the magnificent red velvet lounges on the beautifully carpeted platform.

"Prosperity is just around the corner boys and girls," said Mr. Hoover. "Keep your spirits up, don't worry or bother your teachers but have all the fun you can for there is no time like the present."

Great applause greeted this statement. The whole student body waved handkerchiefs, threw popcorn balls and confetti as President Hoover and Mr. Wells left the platform.

SENIOR CLASS BURNS COURSE BOOKS

Seniors this year set a new custom. They declared a Senior Course Book Day and tucking their little course books under their arms, took them outdoors and carefully put a match to them.

There was a terrific blaze which rivaled the Chicago fire of 1492. Fire trucks from East Chicago, Hammond, Whiting and Kalamazoo, were present at the scene of destruction. The first fire truck arriving on the scene found the Seniors gleefully jumping up and down and clapping their hands.

America's Swedeheart Grants Interview to Red Flannels

I was horror stricken. There I stood, on the threshold of the greatest thrill of my life. America's swedeheart had granted me an interview!

The scene was her private suite at Grand Hotel. As I sat near her on her divan in her luxuriously furnished room my knees shook, my mouth stood open and sweat rolled from my forehead. I couldn't take my eyes off her feet, and she, sensing my discomfort, dangled her over-large "dogs" in front of my eyes. I tried to think of a question to ask her. I rocked the deepest corners of my brain. Finally it came, a light flashed on "Miss Garbo, what size shoes do you wear?"

What happened after that is not clear yet. I thought a sudden thunderstorm had struck the room. There was a blood-curling shriek from the famous movie actress. The room went black before my eyes and I, subconsciously sensing what had happened, ran for a glass of water. When I returned Garbo regained her composure and I

SENIOR CLASS HON- ORS RED FLANNELS

Red Flannels? Who's Red Flannels? Now I wonder. What Senior doesn't know that name; of course, a Freshman, or even a Sophomore, might not know who this distinguished person is, but a Senior.... that's different.

For his wonderful work and great popularity among the student body the Senior Class has voted to present a bust of Red Flannels to the Roosevelt High School.

A group of representatives from the class went to see Michael Angelo and they said, "Say, Mike, ol' boy, how about making a bust of Red Flannels?" for us. Mike said, "Sure. I've heard a lot about that kid and he's a wonder. Why, I'll do it all for nothing."

So Mr. Angelo made the bust and sent it C.O.D., post paid, to the Seniors.

The bust will be put on the roof and will be used as an air mark for aviators to find their way across the continent or any other place they may be going.

We hope that Red Flannels will remain a long time, as a monument to the world for his marvelous contributions to this Roosevelt civilization.

P.S. Just a line about Winta, that faithful secretary of Red's. A large painting of her will be presented also. It will hang in the attic to keep the mice away.

ORCHESTRA TAKES TRIP

Last May, during our extended Christmas vacation the School Board astounded everyone by declaring a surplus in the National Treasury. They immediately inquired of Mr. Hoover if it would be O.K. with the Navy to charter the Leviathan for a trip for one of the most famous orchestras.

It was not necessary to tell the Captain of the Helne from where the orchestra is quite naturally (or unnaturally) he assented and furnished the "gold" for the rest of the orchestra's expenses while in Europe and the dear old U. S. A. for a period of ten years—thence the depression.

LATEST STOCK QUOTATIONS

The Almalgimated Alcohol Company reported an increase in their sales today, in the vicinity of East Chicago, when the Roosevelt Students needed the stuff to take the rubber cement from their hair, eyes, and ears.

CLASS OF 1932—TEN YEARS FROM NOW

As I was passing down the Avenue the other day, I encountered that old gossip, Clake Garble, formerly known as Fed Rannels, who is now starring in the Silent Talkies. I asked him for some news about his Alma Mater and this is what he so kindly contributed to the charitable cause.

Kay Rmak is now enjoying life in the South Sea Islands after retiring from his hectic round of Fiestas in Monte Carlo and Reno.

Harles Chaight, the reknowned Banker, is spending his happy vacation at Sing Sing behind the Bar.

Onna Dangers now is in charge of the Relief Fund of the Janapses-American War.

Rally Waspond is directing the Ziefeld Follies since the absence of the late Florenz Ziefeld. Among th stepping sisters in the chorus are Salice Mulevitz, Gagnes Olton, Wiola Vilson, Mose Rurphy, Melen Hatysoski, Farlotte Chishman, Segina Rabo, and Karriet Harzydem.

Henny Goltzapple and Sate Kmith are getting along famously with the Bachelor Button Club at the Edgeland Hotel. These old maids recently received their D. O. L. (Doctor of Love) degrees from the Beatrice Fairfax School.

Wack Jalsh and Ceph Zampbell are on a tour with the R. K. O. Circuit in a specialty tap number with the Misses Earla Fegely and Mary Lupean. They are to be in Chicago the 36th of this month.

Haul Pinkle is enjoying a trip around the world. By the way, this cost absolutely nothing for he is a tramp. At present he is honeymooning with the Kaiser's daughter, Wargaret Mells in Iceland. The ice will soon melt.

BIG MOMENTS IN THE LIVES OF THE SENIORS

Dorothy Bradford—Jumping rope during lunch hour.

Don Hane—Leading Trotsky's Trotters.

Mame Repka—Concentrating on her Home-Making.

Spencer Davis—Flunking in Art.

Mildred Marshall—Singing "Sweet Sue" and weeping.

Bob Amerman—Sitting quietly during assembly.

Sidney Sitwell—Pinning up her long hair.

Melvin Bell—Winning the Pulaske Citizenship Medal with an F citizenship grade.

Marguerite Faerber—Visiting a "Frat" at Champaign, Ill.

Nathan Feldman—Proposing to Greta Garbo.

Kenneth Jenkins—Eating barbecues at Just-A-Mere.

Margaret Wells—Singing "He's gone Away" to "Jerry" from Fort Wayne.

Dal Lehmann—Cradle snatch-ing.

Kate Smith—Getting letters from a Sigma Nu at Illinois U.

Joe Justine—Making love to the girls.

Charlotte Fishman—Eating figs.

Howie Kristoff—Chasing after Blondes.

Gunda Olson—Having a date with "Nellie."

Burt Clippinger—Wearing long pants.

Harriet Kursydem—Wearing a red flannel skirt.

Fred Layer—Taking exercise on his rowing machine every morning.

Julia Stiglitz—Snubbing Pete Rucinski.

Paul Hinkle—Ditching Chemistry class.

Agnes Dalton—Imitating Greta Garbo as Mata Hari, going down the halls.

A COLUMNIST'S REFLECTIONS OF 1931-1932;

PAPA RED WRITES HIS VERY LAST LINE

By Red Flannels

So long, kids.....

In closing the Rough Writer's most successful term I want to make this column typical of all the ones which have been run during the year. Besides, you'll probably keep this Round-Up long after all the Rough Writers have been used up on papa's lunch, the kid sister's paper dolls, or to start the furnace on a cold winter morning.

A COLUMNIST'S REFLECTIONS OF 1931-32: "Ah me!.... It hardly seems possible that I was only "born" October 8th, when I adopted the old nom de plume, Red Flannels, begot myself a secretary, Winta Unnaware, and settled down to columning, just as green as a new Freshie in September.... I really owe a lot to Hazel Flynn, the Chicago American columnist.... Soon after I started writing, I was spurred on by seeing a letter I had written to Hazel, printed in her column.... That inspiration lasted a long time.... But Hazel and I probably have only one thing in common.... We're both deaf in the left ear.... Came December and the Press Convention at the Palmer House.... We DID enjoy sitting on that balcony odorizing the vapors of that soup being served in the banquet hall below.... And the dance in the Red Lacquer Room afterwards.... Sent suits of flannel unaware as Christmas greeting and found an epidemic of red flannel wardrobes in Spring.

What a sap I was to predict that Cleo Diehl's and Jerry Gauthier's pre-Christmas smash was a phoney. Oh, well, I can't always be right.... Bob Hale and Evelyn Gauthier cooled though, just as I said they would.... Likewise, Dal Lehmann and Doris Bates....

December passed and then, naturally, came January.... Things happened fast and on the afternoon of the twenty-third I found myself standing outside Eddie Cantor's dressing-room at the Chicago Theatre, waiting for the comedian to emerge to autograph some pictures.... While waiting I peered through the crack in the door to find Eddie Cantor standing in front of the dresser brushing his hair.... minus pants.... Yessir, he wears shorts.... Even as you and I.... That item was censored in the original write-up of the interview which appeared in the WHOA edition.... Thank heaven, the truth is out at last.

Sometime later, again at the stage door of the Chicago, while waiting for Lilyan Tashman, I got an unexpected thrill in standing close to the ex-champ, Jack Dempsey.... That was the day I forgot my notebook.... Curses!.... Thinking of Dempsey reminds me of how Maxine Barrick always resented my comment on her colliflower ears.... Came March and with it Mary Lupean and Earla Fegely, who left school last fall and were returning to play the Palace in a dance act.... Coach Overpeck refused to be frightened by Morton Downey's tenor voice and ventured back-stage to visit the two gals....

Came April and Winta and I received a great kick out of being kidnapped.... The kick was doubled when Hazel Flynn devoted her whole column on April 6th to news of the "disappearance."....

The last day of the rainy month I put on my false nose and trailed Jackie Cooper and his mom down Cottage Grove Avenue.... What a thrill, what a thrill.

Anything that happened after that was too late to get in here. So I'll have to turn to predicting.

PREDICTIONS FOR 1933: First of all a grand re-union at the World's Fair in Chicago for the entire senior class.... Evelyn Shader and Harold Brown are due to smash.... Only brooks can go on forever, as Tennyson will tell you.... Miss Hawkins will teach no more.... Wedding bells are in the offering.... Mr. Haynes will continue to have headaches over hall monitors who leave their posts.... Miss Swatts will produce the greatest senior play with Bill Nameny doing the character role.... Rose Murphy, if the art field doesn't grab her, will become a full fledged actress.... Don Hane will snap a columning job on some big tabloid having taken lessons from me.... Or my mistakes I should say.... Bud McCrea will be the Don Juan of the sophomore class.... Miss Murphy will pepper my successor with letters signed "Patricia Jane".... Wish I knew who my successor will be! Mr. Anderson will continue to give quizzes.... The depression will NOT continue.... Harriet Kurzydem will take her family out on Sunday afternoons on a motorcycle.... Elizabeth Bennett will be one of those "sweethearts in every port".... Billy Freiberger will grow one inch taller and then stop.... These boys are destined to popularity with the femmes: Hank Gamaleri, Tom Pilot, the Miller Boys, John Kowalski and Harrell Smith.... Regina Sabo will probably write a book called "The Life of a Flirt".... Dorothea Hess will follow Jean Harlow's suit and dye her hair red.... Sigrid Strickland will take printing next semester just to be close to Johnny.... And we'll all have birthdays....

MY VERY LAST LINE: This is Pappa Red going out into the world to prove that even an ex-columnist can make good....

again took my seat as if nothing had happened.

Not being able to take my mind from deformed appendages I reopened the interview with a question, "Are Clark Gable's ears really large?" Glad to change the subject from her own deformity, Miss Garbo discussed Mr. Gable's ears and I learned more about Clark Gable in fifteen minutes than I could ever learn about Miss Garbo in a year.

One more amusing incident happened as I made an effort to go. We stood on the threshold of the room. After six goodbyes my face began to get red, Miss Garbo again said goodbye and I said goodbye. Not being able to withstand it any longer, I blurted out, "Miss Garbo, will you please get off my foot?"

The students did everything they could to hinder the fighting firemen, including sticking pins in the hose, kicking fire plugs over, and untying the firemen's shoe strings. With the loss of the hose and plug the firemen resorted to chemicals and sprayed rubber cement over students and fire alike.

The following story of the trip as was told to us by the concert master, Georgenski Kikikiski follows. We left on the "City of New York" from the Chicago Harbor and immediately got into an air pocket—well—you know the rest, fortunately they took a crate of lemons with them. You can see G. K. about the rest. He had to stay there.
